The French Riviera is closer than ever.

Good news: Our seasonal route between Nice and New York returns this spring—and this year, we've added more flights to make it easier than ever to go.

A few hours is all it takes to go from the sun-kissed charm of the French Riviera to NYC's unmatched energy. Strolling along the Promenade des Anglais and linger over a café at the beach then dive back into the middle of it all in New York. Or the other way around.

First departure of the season is April 11 at 7:00 p.m. (with up to 5 flights per week to choose from!). Pack those bags!

NICE SOUNDS PERFECT

Say it with Fleurs.

On April 3, our Paris—New York flight welcomed a very special guest onboard. Author Adrienne Ryser joined us to sign her book Fleurs, her gorgeous guide to bouquets, arrangements, and French floral inspiration.

Our passengers experienced something a little out of the ordinary: culture at cruising speed, immersed in the color and poetry of her work. A flight to remember.
